Alert: EC Reg Proposal Update Call Reinforces Our View of Neutral/Positive Impact

■ Update — Today MA hosted a conf call to discuss yesterday's release of the European Commission's proposal to cap interchange as well as other payments regulations (see our recent note). Speaking on the call was Javier Perez, President of MA Europe and Noah Hanft, MA's General Counsel. While a few topics were touched upon, the bulk of the call focused on the separation around card schemes and processing and the potential risks/opportunities this would bring. Overall we came away from the conf call with a reinforced view that although some final answers need to be found, our early read is that the EC payment regulations will have a neutral/positive impact for MA.

■ Key Highlights — Key highlights from the call include: 1) MA believes that they already comply with the separation of card schemes and processing. MA does not bundle their fees and has separate pricing for using their brand and processing, 2) the separation language could level the playing field for MA to compete with domestic schemes in Europe. MA processes <50% of European transactions bearing their brand, 3) mgt expressed confidence that the lower bank interchange prices should not increase pressure on network fees as they have been able to weather lower interchange fees for quite some time and network fees are a relatively small part of the overall costs for issuers/acquirers (and European banks are less reliant on interchange compared to US banks), 4) MA does not sense the EC proposal would alter the competitive landscape with V Europe and 5) the lower interchange could perhaps open up adoption for the growth of electronic payments via increased merchant acceptance/categories.

■ What's Next? — Although there is no set timeline, it is anticipated to be an extended process which will include outreach by not only the payment industry (networks, issuers, acquirers) but also merchants and consumer groups. The proposal will ultimately need to be approved by a majority of the EU Parliament and the Council of Ministers of the member states. While it is possible for the rules to be adopted in 2014 before the EU Parliament recess, it could be delayed in 2015 (yesterday V mgt suggested 18-24 mos for approval). And finally, as we have pointed out previously, the final legislation could be quite different from this initial proposal.

■ The Stock — We continue to see good upside in the shares and reiterate our Buy rating, particularly in light of the strong results yesterday from V (see link here). MA reports earnings next Wed before the market open. We expect a solid qtr and are looking for EPS of $6.36, ahead of consensus at $6.31. Target $700 (~23x '14 est). MA currently trades at 20x our '14 est, compared to V at 21.1x our CY'14 est.

MasterCard Inc.

Valuation

Our 12-month target price for MA is $700. Our target price is based on approximately 23x our 2014 EPS estimate of $30. We use a price-to-earnings (P/E) multiple as our primary valuation metric.

For our valuation, we compare MA to V as it is the only true comparable company, as MA operates the second-largest global credit card network and essentially has the same business model as V. We also consider other processing names such as GPN, HPY, and TSS.

Price-to-Earnings - Our $700 target represents approximately 23x our 2014 estimate, a premium to the average forward P/E multiple of 17x over the past three years.

In terms of relative P/E, MA trades at about 20x our '14 estimate below V at about 20.7x but above with the average merchant processing peer at about 15.3x. We also note that relative to the S&P 500, MA trades at a premium to the market multiple of 14.1x 2014 earnings.

Risks

Changes in MA's operating environment such as regulatory, economic, political, and market conditions are generally beyond the company's control. We note the following risks to our target price:

Positive Risks: 1) Consumer Spending Increases, 2) Greater International Growth, 3) Improved Debit Growth, and 4) Resolution of Litigation/Legislation Risks (i.e. interchange).

Negative Risks: 1) Consumer Expenditures Could Decline, 2) Financial contagion spreading in Europe, 3) Regulatory & Legal Risks in the US & Abroad, 4) Bank Consolidation, and 5) Settlement Risk.

If the impact on the company from any of these factors proves to be greater than we anticipate, the stock will likely have difficulty achieving our target price. Likewise, if any of these factors proves to have less an effect than we anticipate, the stock could materially outperform our target.

Visa Inc.

(V.N; US$195.26; 2)

We also consider other processing names such as GPN, HPY and TSS.

Price-to-Earnings - Our $212 target represents approximately 23x our 2014 calendar estimate. In terms of relative P/E, V trades at about 20.1x our calendar year 2014 estimate above MA at 19.7x and above with the average merchant processing peer at about 14.6x. We also note that relative to the S&P 500, V trades at a premium to the market multiple of 14.4x 2014 earnings.

Risks

Changes in V's operating environment such as regulatory, economic, political, and market conditions are generally beyond the company's control. We note the following risks to our target price:

Guide to Citi Research Fundamental Research Investment Ratings:

Citi Research stock recommendations include an investment rating and an optional risk rating to highlight high risk stocks.

Risk rating takes into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria. Stocks will either have no risk rating or a High risk rating assigned.

Investment Ratings: Citi Research investment ratings are Buy, Neutral and Sell. Our ratings are a function of analyst expectations of expected total return ("ETR") and risk. ETR is the sum of the forecast price appreciation (or depreciation) plus the dividend yield for a stock within the next 12 months. The Investment rating definitions are: Buy (1) ETR of 15% or more or 25% or more for High risk stocks; and Sell (3) for negative ETR. Any covered stock not assigned a Buy or a Sell is a Neutral (2). For stocks rated Neutral (2), if an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Citi Research management not to assign a target price and, thus, not derive an ETR. Analysts may place covered stocks "Under Review" in response to exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis) affecting the company and / or trading in the company's securities (e.g. trading suspension). As soon as practically possible, the analyst will publish a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Under Review and Neutral to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our 12-month fundamental rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider Under Review to be a recommendation.

Relative three-month ratings: Citi Research may also assign a three-month relative call (or rating) to a stock to highlight expected out-performance (most preferred) or under-performance (least preferred) versus the geographic and industry sector over a 3 month period. The relative call may highlight a specific near-term catalyst or event impacting the company or the market that is anticipated to have a short-term price impact on the equity securities of the company. Absent any specific catalyst the analyst(s) will indicate the most and least preferred stocks in the universe of stocks under consideration, explaining the basis for this short-term view. This three-month view may be different from and does not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects a longer-term total absolute return expectation. For purposes of NASD/NYSE ratings-distribution-disclosure rules, most preferred calls correspond to a buy recommendation and least preferred calls correspond to a sell recommendation. Any stock not assigned to a most preferred or least preferred call is considered non-relative-rated (NRR). For purposes of NASD/NYSE ratings-distribution-disclosure rules we correspond NRR to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our 3-month relative rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider NRR to be a recommendation.

Prior to October 8, 2011, the firm's stock recommendation system included a risk rating and an investment rating. Risk ratings, which took into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria, were: Low (L), Medium (M), High (H), and Speculative (S). Investment Ratings of Buy, Hold and Sell were a function of the Citi Research expectation of total return (forecast price appreciation and dividend yield within the next 12 months) and risk rating. Additionally, analysts could have placed covered stocks "Under Review" in response to exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis) affecting the company and/or trading in the company's securities (e.g. trading suspension). Stocks placed "Under Review" were monitored daily by management and as practically possible, the analyst published a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. For securities in developed markets (US, UK, Europe, Japan, and Australia/New Zealand), investment ratings were: Buy (1) (expected total return of 10% or more for Low-Risk stocks, 15% or more for Medium-Risk stocks, 20% or more for High-Risk stocks, and 35% or more for Speculative stocks); Hold (2) (0%-10% for Low-Risk stocks, 0%-15% for Medium-Risk stocks, 0%-20% for High-Risk stocks, and 0%-35% for Speculative stocks); and Sell (3) (negative total return). For securities in emerging markets (Asia Pacific, Emerging Europe/Middle East/Africa, and Latin America), investment ratings were: Buy (1) (expected total return of 15% or more for Low-Risk stocks, 20% or more for Medium-Risk stocks, 30% or more for High-Risk stocks, and 40% or more for Speculative stocks); Hold (2) (5%-15% for Low-Risk stocks, 10%-20% for Medium-Risk stocks, 15%-30% for High-Risk stocks, and 20%-40% for Speculative stocks); and Sell (3) (5% or less for Low-Risk stocks, 10% or less for Medium-Risk stocks, 15% or less for High-Risk stocks, and 20% or less for Speculative stocks).

Investment ratings are determined by the ranges described above at the time of initiation of coverage, a change in investment and/or risk rating, or a change in target price (subject to limited management discretion). At other times, the expected total returns may fall outside of these ranges because of market price movements and/or other short-term volatility or trading patterns. Such interim deviations from specified ranges will be permitted but will become subject to review by Research Management. Your decision to buy or sell a security should be based upon your personal investment objectives and should be made only after evaluating the stock's expected performance and risk.
