Results: Good Start Boosted by European Trading

- Citi's Take — Trading update points to positive trends in Europe helped by mild weather with LFL sales in the four months up +10% in Europe and up +2% in the US. H1 EBITDA is expected to be €0.1bn higher at €0.5bn with H2 EBITDA expected to be 'somewhat' ahead of 2013 level of €1.08bn. We do not expect much change to consensus EBITDA at this stage. Portfolio review continues with the management seeing 80% of its portfolio as meeting its financial criteria.
- Trading comments — Europe Materials performed well to date with mild weather and better market conditions boosting Poland and Ukraine. Like-for-like sales in Europe Materials were up +8%, Europe Products saw LFL sales up +16% with Distribution up +8%. Americas saw less favourable weather this year with Americas Materials LFL sales +4%, Americas Products up +3% with Distribution -2%.
- Portfolio review — The group had already announced that 10% of its net assets (c.3% of EBITDA) would be divested with the divestment process underway. Management have now decided that 80% of net assets meet the Group's financial criteria and are assessing the remaining 10% of net assets (7% of EBITDA) with the review expected to be complete in 3Q2014.
- Outlook — In H2 2014, Europe is expected to make progress but at a slower rate and progress is also expected in Americas. Overall EBITDA in H2 is expected to be "somewhat" ahead of the previous year (H2 2013:€1.08m). Consensus has c.10-13% growth in H2 EBITDA.
- Implications — Good start to the year confirms that 2013 looks like a trough year for profits. Portfolio review continues with divestments likely to start to come through. Shares have had a good run and reside on a 2015E EV:EBITDA of 9.5 times as the market factors in earnings recovery and portfolio change. Analyst call — will be held this morning at 8am (UK time). CRH PLC

Valuation

Our target price of €21 is derived from a weighted valuation approach using different valuation metrics of: P/E (€19.4, weighting 25%), EV/EBITDA (€20.9, weighting 60%), free cash flow (€21, weighting 10%) and DCF (€29, weighting 5%). The target multiples we use are 17x (P/E), 9.5x (EV/EBITDA) and 7% (FCF). We use target multiples slightly above long-run average multiples to drive our price target and are comfortable using multiples at a slight premium to long-run averages as we are probably closer to trough earnings, particularly in Europe and the refining of the business portfolio to improve growth and returns. Our DCF calculation is the average value for a range of discount rates from 7.5-9%.

Risks

Aside from the macro outlook, the most important company-specific risks that would prevent CRH from reaching our target price are:

US economic recovery petering out and construction markets not recovering as quickly as we expect.

The European economy suffering a deep prolonged recession as governments cut spending.

Weak US state spending on highway construction and other infrastructure projects being weaker than expected.

A lack of acquisition opportunities or the group having to pay higher prices for acquisitions.

Management not delivering on disposing assets identified for sale and improving returns and profitability of the group.

Currency: the risk is mostly translational if the US dollar weakens.

If the impact on the company from any of these factors proves to be more negative than we anticipate, the stock will likely have difficulty achieving our financial and price targets. Conversely, if any of these factors proves to have less of an effect than we anticipate, the stock could materially outperform our target.

Guide to Citi Research Fundamental Research Investment Ratings:

Citi Research stock recommendations include an investment rating and an optional risk rating to highlight high risk stocks.

Risk rating takes into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria. Stocks will either have no risk rating or a High risk rating assigned.

Investment Ratings: Citi Research investment ratings are Buy, Neutral and Sell. Our ratings are a function of analyst expectations of expected total return ("ETR") and risk. ETR is the sum of the forecast price appreciation (or depreciation) plus the dividend yield for a stock within the next 12 months. The Investment rating definitions are: Buy (1) ETR of 15% or more or 25% or more for High risk stocks; and Sell (3) for negative ETR. Any covered stock not assigned a Buy or a Sell is a Neutral (2). For stocks rated Neutral (2), if an analyst believes that there are insufficient valuation drivers and/or investment catalysts to derive a positive or negative investment view, they may elect with the approval of Citi Research management not to assign a target price and, thus, not derive an ETR. Analysts may place covered stocks "Under Review" in response to exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis) affecting the company and / or trading in the company's securities (e.g. trading suspension). As soon as practically possible, the analyst will publish a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. To satisfy regulatory requirements, we correspond Under Review and Neutral to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our 12-month fundamental rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider Under Review to be a recommendation.

Relative three-month ratings: Citi Research may also assign a three-month relative call (or rating) to a stock to highlight expected out-performance (most preferred) or under-performance (least preferred) versus the geographic and industry sector over a 3 month period. The relative call may highlight a specific near-term catalyst or event impacting the company or the market that is anticipated to have a short-term price impact on the equity securities of the company. Absent any specific catalyst the analyst(s) will indicate the most and least preferred stocks in the universe of stocks under consideration, explaining the basis for this short-term view. This three-month view may be different from and does not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects a longer-term total absolute return expectation. For purposes of NASD/NYSE ratings-distribution-disclosure rules, most preferred calls correspond to a buy recommendation and least preferred calls correspond to a sell recommendation. Any stock not assigned to a most preferred or least preferred call is considered non-relative-rated (NRR). For purposes of NASD/NYSE ratings-distribution-disclosure rules we correspond NRR to Hold in our ratings distribution table for our 3-month relative rating system. However, we reiterate that we do not consider NRR to be a recommendation.

Prior to October 8, 2011, the firm's stock recommendation system included a risk rating and an investment rating. Risk ratings, which took into account both price volatility and fundamental criteria, were: Low (L), Medium (M), High (H), and Speculative (S). Investment Ratings of Buy, Hold and Sell were a function of the Citi Research expectation of total return (forecast price appreciation and dividend yield within the next 12 months) and risk rating. Additionally, analysts could have placed covered stocks "Under Review" in response to exceptional circumstances (e.g. lack of information critical to the analyst's thesis) affecting the company and/or trading in the company's securities (e.g. trading suspension). Stocks placed "Under Review" were monitored daily by management and as practically possible, the analyst published a note re-establishing a rating and investment thesis. For securities in developed markets (US, UK, Europe, Japan, and Australia/New Zealand), investment ratings were: Buy (1) (expected total return of 10% or more for Low-Risk stocks, 15% or more for Medium-Risk stocks, 20% or more for High-Risk stocks, and 35% or more for Speculative stocks); Hold (2) (0%-10% for Low-Risk stocks, 0%-15% for Medium-Risk stocks, 0%-20% for High-Risk stocks, and 0%-35% for Speculative stocks); and Sell (3) (negative total return). For securities in emerging markets (Asia Pacific, Emerging Europe/Middle East/Africa, and Latin America), investment ratings were: Buy (1) (expected total return of 15% or more for Low-Risk stocks, 20% or more for Medium-Risk stocks, 30% or more for High-Risk stocks, and 40% or more for Speculative stocks); Hold (2) (5%-15% for Low-Risk stocks, 10%-20% for Medium-Risk stocks, 15%-30% for High-Risk stocks, and 20%-40% for Speculative stocks); and Sell (3) (5% or less for Low-Risk stocks, 10% or less for Medium-Risk stocks, 15% or less for High-Risk stocks, and 20% or less for Speculative stocks).

Investment ratings are determined by the ranges described above at the time of initiation of coverage, a change in investment and/or risk rating, or a change in target price (subject to limited management discretion). At other times, the expected total returns may fall outside of these ranges because of market price movements and/or other short-term volatility or trading patterns. Such interim deviations from specified ranges will be permitted but will become subject to review by Research Management. Your decision to buy or sell a security should be based upon your personal investment objectives and should be made only after evaluating the stock's expected performance and risk.
